GENERAL STATEMENT OF RESPONSIBILITY:

The Forestry Crew Engine Boss manages the seasonal SIR Forestry Program which includes forest management and wildland fire suppression activities. Forest management includes supervision of one Forestry Crew Supervisor and up to six Forestry Crew Technicians and Trainees on a variety of forestry project field work. Specific project work will include prescribed fire, thinning and piling trees and slash, burning piles, mowing grasses and shrubs, maintaining trails in wilderness areas, and a variety of natural resource work such as mechanical weed treatment and planting native trees, shrubs, and grasses. Work will require the use of chainsaws, pole saws, cross-cut saws, weed eaters, drip torches, log splitters, wood chippers, hand tools, and related equipment. Work will require driving SIR vehicles and Fire Engines, frequent bending, lifting, hiking, and walking over a rough and uneven terrain. Adverse weather conditions including snow, rain and wind may make working conditions difficult or uncomfortable.

Wildland fire suppression activities include supervision and leadership of a seasonal three to six person cross-trained Wildland Fire Handcrew and Type 6 Fire Engine. The Wildland Fire Crew will be on-call during the fire season; fire assignments are expected to be intermittent and completely dependent on seasonal needs and the completion of other required SIR forestry work. The Forestry Crew Engine Boss is responsible for supervising forestry activities on forestry and fuels projects while not on fire assignment. When on fire assignment, the Engine Boss will lead the crew on initial attack response and fire suppression activities, extended attacks of wildland fires within the local response district and may be deployed outside the district for assignments lasting as long as fourteen days on Federal, State, and Tribal lands. Specific duties required when directing the operation of the engine and crew will include initial evaluation of fire situation, selecting suppression method and tools, deployment of crew, determining point of initial attack, ensuring safety of crew, communicating with dispatchers and superiors, and maintaining records of crew hours and action on fires. The Engine Boss will also ensure that crew members are fully trained and comply with safety regulations. The Engine Boss and Crew will work cooperatively with other Tribes and federal agencies including the Bureau of Indian Affairs.
